WORCESTER STATE COLLEGE
WORCESTER,
MASSACHUSETTS

LEARNING RESOURCES CENTER, WORCESTER STATE COLLEGE

I hope today will be a lighter highway,
'cause friends are found on every road.

Can you ever think of any better way
For the lost and weary traveler to go.

It seems to me a crime that we should age.
These fragile times should never slip us by.

A time that we can't or shall erase

As friends watch their childhoods fly.

Makin' friends for the world to see

Let the people know

You've got what they need.

With a friend at hand
you will see the light.

If your friends are there then everything's all right.

CHANDLER VILLAGE

HOI po

Well, here it is. The long awaited and muchly needed GUIDE FOR STUDENTS. Now, you may be receiving this yearbook as a senior, in which case it might be too late (unless you plan to go on to graduate school). Then again, you can always give it to someone else.

Thus, we begin. Here are some ways to get out of a couple of sticky situations.

Sticky Situation #1:

Why You Are Late For Class

"Jimmy Carter needed advice and he kept me on the phone for hours"

"They said that they wouldn't release me from the hospital with Leprosy, so I sneaked out"

"Awe come on! I jumped bail to get down here"

"My flight from Guyana was full"

"God asked me to kill a goat"

"I was kidnapped by Martians"

"The Three Stooges were on"

Your professor will believe the last one, at least. The next situation is even tougher to get out of, but give it a shot.

Sticky Situation #2: Why Your Assignment Is Missing

"They turned off the gas in our house, so we had to burn my paper for heat"

"The goat that God asked me to kill bled all over it"

"My car got stuck on ice, so I shoved the paper under the tires for traction"

"It got caught in the Veg-O-Matic"

"Dad thought it was a tax form and wrote numbers all over it"

"It's cold season, and we ran out of tissues in my apartment"

"Well, we needed something for home plate!"

"The dog thought it was newspaper"

There's all the excuses you'll ever need to get through college, but now let's provide a few answers to those tough philosophical questions that students are constantly being asked.

Tough Philosophical Question #1: Why Do You Go To College?

"It breaks up my day"

"I'm hiding from the FBI"

"Cause Abe Lincoln never did and I want to be smarter than he was"

"To avoid work"

"Because they wouldn't let me back into high school"

"Cause my dog never did and I want to be smarter than he is"

"I go to college so that if God ever tells me to kill a goat, I'll know how to do it"

"Two gett edukated"

Tough Philosophical Question #2: What Is Your Major Goal In Life?

"To become famous"

Tough Philosophical Question #3: How Do You Intend to Become Famous?

"Kill the president"

"Change my name to an obscene word"

"Marry Elizabeth Taylor"

OLLOI

"Get a job thinking up more original names for the pope"

"Appear before the Queen of England and puke"

"Discover a new breed of worm"

"Manage the Red Sox"

So much for getting out of trouble. The GUIDE is also intended to be informative. Therefore, we shall devote this remaining space to getting you one step ahead of the competition (professors).

We will do this, by leaking to you, the student, a list of titles of new books which will sooner or later be required reading.

"Sayonnara" A gripping murder mystery based on a word in the Japanese language.

"But Noooooooooooooooooo!" A tender love story based on a joke in John Belushi's comedy routine.

"Colonial Bacon" The story of a pig in Puritan Massachusetts, based on a TV commercial starring Jim Rice and Ken Harrelson.

"Coffee And" Archaeologist attempts to locate the rest of the sentence. Based on a stupid expression often used by Paul Joseph.

"And Now For Something Completely Different" Story of a boy and his dog, based on a tired phrase always used by Monty Python.

"You Take My Breath Away" Factual account of the Boston strangler. Based on a song title by Rex Smith.

"Breakfast in America" Nutritional diet book, based on a record album from Supertramp.

. . . Of course, these, are only a few. You may encounter numerous others along the way. But so much for that. This has been your first GUIDE FOR STUDENTS. From here it's up to you.

WOMEN'S A Sad Ending

by JIM DONLEVY
Sports Editor

The setting seemed perfect. The Lancerettes of Worcester State College held an unblemished 17-0 record entering the EAIAW Small College Basketball Championships. The field consisted of the 16 best teams from New England and New York, and Worcester State was seeded first. That was a big plus for the Lancerettes.

Another plus for the Lancerettes was the fact that they were playing the first two rounds of the tournament on their home court. Also, Worcester State's first round opponent was Bentley College; one week earlier the team had easily downed Bentley 66-58 for the MAIAW Division II championship. But there were some minuses: they had to have been because Bentley College had shocked the Lancerettes, 55-48 in the opening round last Friday night.

What went wrong? How could Bentley possibly have beaten Worcester State? As mentioned earlier, there were some minuses.

Minus number one:

The Lancerettes were undefeated and seeded number one in the tournament. There is always a lot of pressure being number one and unbeaten. Every team wants to knock off the top gun. Worcester State was the top gun.

Minus number two:

The Lancerettes played Bentley College the week before and defeated it for the MAIAW

Division II championship. The second time around Bentley was more prepared to face the top ranked Lancerettes. The Worcester team did not have much time to prepare for Bentley because on Wednesday evening it had to travel to Bridgewater State to do battle with that team. Minus number three:

The Lancer women were playing at home. They were playing before a very large crowd at the WSC gymnasium. The crowds that they were use to playing before were extremely small ones. Most of the people there had never seen the Lancerettes in action before. They were anticipating and expecting a Lancerette victory. That in itself is an enormous amount of pressure.

In case you haven't noticed,

BASKETBALL

To A Great Season

the plusses and the minuses have equaled out. Just as in accounting where debits and credits even out. There are two sides to every coin. There are advantages and disadvantages to everything in life. Get the point?

Somebody had asked the question "Did they choke?" Think about it. What have they done this season?

In the season opener against Westfield State the Lancerettes trailed by as many as ten points in the first half before chopping the halftime margin to four. The second half was nip and tuck before State took charge and won the game by a score of 73-68.

After upping their record to, 7-0, the Lancerettes ran up against tough Springfield College. It was a close battle all the way with the largest lead being only six points at any one time. The Lancerettes were trailing by six late in the game (59-53), but came back to pull off a thrilling 77-75 victory.

In the MAIAW semi-final game against Westfield State the Lancerettes saw a ten point halftime lead (42-32) dwindle down to a 65 all tie. The Lancerettes had lost all their momentum and appeared as though they were headed towards loss number one. But they did not give up as they rolled up eleven unanswered points enroute to a 83-73 win. The Lancerettes were 17-2 for the season. They had won the Massachusetts State Conference title and also the MAIAW Championship in the Roberts Center at Boston College. All season long they played their hearts out and never gave up.

There is one last minus to look at. Starters Barbara Howard and Joanne Mediros were playing in pain and were not a 100%. Now ask yourself this: does this sound like a team that choked? I don't think it does. Pure and simple, Bentley caught Worcester State on a bad night. Everyone is entitled to a bad night.

After the consolation loss to SMU., Worcester State equipment manager Doc Coughlin said "Isn't it a sad ending to a great season?" Yes Doc, it was a sad ending to a great season. After all, a record of 17-2 is great. A great season for a great coach and a great team.

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL

Lancerettes Roll On

by JIM DONLEVY

After blowing an 8-0 lead against Framingham State to lose their first game of the season, the Worcester State softball team won seven games in a row last week to improve its overall record to 10-1.

In the second game of the doubleheader Margie Collins was credited with four RBI to lead the Lancerettes to a 19-3 romp and a split of the twin bill.

On Thursday April 19 Worcester swept a pair from Westfield State 13-6 and 9-0. JoAnne Medeiros and Nancy Vaskas drove in three runs apiece and Denise Desorcy banged out three hits to lead the Lancerette opening game victory. Vaskas pitched a shutout in the second game.

On April 21 Bentley College held a 2-0 lead going into the bottom of the seventh inning, but Worcester rallied for three runs to win 3-2. Medeiros picked up the win after a shaky start saw the Falcons score two in the second. The Bentley coach continually halted play to talk with his batters. This was obviously a psychological tactic as Medeiros was shakened up throughout the early innings.

She hung right in there and allowed only two runs which helped her team to catch up. Catch up is exactly what the Lancerettes did in the bottom of the seventh and 9th innings. With one out, Mary Ann Palazzi reached on a walk. Sandy Robichaud pinch hit and hit a long fly ball to left field which was caught. Denise Desorcy then reached on a bunt single which scored Palazzi after a couple of wild throws by Bentley. Two more Lancerette hits pushed home two more runs for the final count of 3-2.

Nancy Vaskas pitched a shutout in game two as the Lancerettes completed the sweep 2-0.

April 23 saw the Lancerettes travel to North Adams State College. JoAnn Medeiros had seven RBI while Desorcy and Margie Collins each had three as Worcester State crushed North Adams 24-1 in the opener. In game two Kathy Feen and Medeiros drove home two runs each as the Lancerettes swept their third consecutive doubleheader. Once again it was Medeiros and Vaskas picking up the wins.

BEST WISHES GRADUATES
THE COLLEGE MART

Dear Seniors,

This book has been a great experience for all those involved. I would like to thank those whose ceaseless effort made this book possible.

Maureen Granfield and Francine Pion on layout and photography editing volunteered many hours. I wish these girls success in the coming year as the co-editors for 1980.

Very special thanks go to Steve McDonough and Mark Piette of THE NEW STUDENT VOICE for providing us with a great many pictures when we needed them most.

Peter Ekbergs talents in the business world kept our financial boat stable.

Our advisors Paul Joseph and Bill Byers, a very present help in trouble, boosted us over our rough spots and problems.

Thanks to Linda Miller of Hunter Publishing who had patience and faith in us to know that we would finish "almost" on time.

I hope that every graduate will find something in this book which evoke fond memories of Worcester State College for many years to come.

Sincerely,
Nancy A. Curll
